BRYAN HAS FOLLOWED HIS OWN CONSCIENCE

By Associated Press.

Washington, D. C., December 6.—Secretary Bryan narrowly escaped a suffragist ambush at a meeting of the National Popular Government league where he spoke on popular government. A delegation of women suffragists fresh from their convention here took places in the hall, at which it had been advertised the Secretary was to speak and near the conclusion of his address, Miss Helen Todd, a California suffragist, arose and called out: "And how about popular government for women, Mr. Secretary?" With flashing eyes the Secretary said, "Madam, in your work you doubtless have followed your judgment and conscience; in my work I have followed mine." The suffragist made no further effort to secure an expression from Mr. Bryan and he immediately thereafter left the hall. During his address, Mr. Bryan asserted his firm conviction in the right and the capacity of the people to rule. "They might make mistakes, but would rectify them more quickly than if a few were ruling for them," he said. Speaking of President Wilson's declaration in his message for a presidential primary, Mr. Bryan said he thought before another presidential campaign arrived the people would vote at home for their choice and that the President, when he entered the White House, would know no individuals, but only the people.

FOUR FEET OF SNOW COVERS CITY OF DENVER

By Associated Press.

Denver, Colo., December 6.—Cloudless skies greeted residents of Denver and suburbs today when they resumed the task of digging their way through 45.5 inches of snow. The first efforts were to restore the street car service and resume the delivery of coal and food supplies. Railroad traffic was badly tied up. Only one train from Cheyenne has reached the Union Station. Although several persons were reported missing, no actual loss of life has been reported.

A. here was arrested today on a warrant charging embezzlement of $100 from the local association. Bail was fixed at $5000 but not furnished. An auditing committee is examining his accounts. Officers of the association say the charge of embezzlement of $100 is a nominal one for which another may be substituted.

FLOODS ARE ON INCREASE

By Associated Press.

Kansas City, Mo., Dec. 6.—Rain continued falling today in many parts of Kansas and nearly a week of wet weather has swollen the streams and caused considerable damage to farm property.

At Fort Scott, Kansas, thirty hours downpour has caused a thirty foot rise in Marmaton River. While attempting to ford Timber Creek, near Floral, last night, Archie Lowery, his wife and two children were swept down stream and one of the children was drowned. Several central Missouri points reported flooded streams and roads so deep with mud the farmers cannot get to market.

COLD ADDS TO FLOOD HORRORS

FULLY ENDORSED ALL RECOMMENDED

By Associated Press.

Columbus, Ohio, December 6.—All recommendations of the school survey commission for reform of the rural educational system in Ohio were endorsed almost unanimously by the Educational Congress just before adjournment today. The three principal provisions endorsed are, certification and train of teachers, township and county supervision. The recommendations of the survey commission now will go to the General Assembly when it meets in January, with the singularity that for the first time in the history of the state, educators agree on plans for reform of the rural educational system. Today's session of the educational conference was turbulent. Many delegates stood in their seats and shouted that the program of speakers was "fixed" in advance and that opposition delegates were not given the chance to voice their views. An address by Governor Cox concluded just before the vote of endorsement was taken apparently united the convention for its action.

NEEDLE USER HELD UNDER HEAVY BAIL

By Associated Press.

Newark, N. J., Dec. 6.—Armand Megaro, the South American student of pharmacy held in $2000 bail, accused of sticking a needle in the arm of Mrs. Majorie Graff, was today confronted by another woman who reported similar experiences recently. Mrs. Graff fainted after feeling the needle point and two other victims say they felt marked drowsiness.

While physicians disagree as to whether powerful narcotics could be instantaneously injected by a needle, associations for the prevention of crime have taken up the matter in an effort to determine whether procurers tried thus to get girls in their power.

NEW PETITION FILED BY THE BURNS AGENCY

Each Member of the Law and Order League Made a Co-Defendant Instead of Chairman and Vice Chairman, as in Former Petition.

The William J. Burns National Detective Association, F. J. Heine, manager of the Cleveland branch, has filed a second petition in the local Common Pleas court, setting forth their claim against the Law and Order league for the sum of $1591.70, with interest from July 17th, 1913, which the plaintiff claims is due for services rendered by Burns operatives.

The petition names all members of the Law and Order League as defendants.

In a petition filed by the Burns Agency, August 22, 1913, the plaintiffs named the chairman and vice chairman of the league as defendants in the action, but a demurrer to the petition was filed by the league, with the result that the second petition was filed by Roy C. Taylor, representing the Burns agency.

The league is termed "a voluntarily unincorporated organization," and the allegation is made that the chairman and vice chairman employed the Burns agency operatives, and that the $1591.70 represents the amount due after $575 was made.

An itemized account accompanies the petition, showing the number, but not the name of the operatives, and the amount alleged to be due.

SUFFS BURN AND DESTROY

By Associated Press.

London, England, Dec. 6.—The campaign for revenge for the rearrest of Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst was continued by the militant suffragists today. They had marked for destruction various exhibition buildings and grand stands of the race tracks in Lancashire where Premier Asquith is spending the week-end and delivering a series of political speeches.

Two of the attempts on the militant program were successfully carried out. Arson squads burned exhibition buildings at Liverpool and Manchester. The third attempt was unsuccessful, the suffragists being frightened away by the approach of a policeman after they were prepared to set fire to a grand stand on Aintree race course.

MILITANTS ARE BESEIGING JAIL

By Associated Press.

Exeter, England, Dec. 6.—Exeter jail was today surrounded by militant suffragists in anticipation of the removal or release of Mrs. Pankhurst. A number of automobiles were at hand ready to give chase in case the prisoner should be taken to some other jail.

It is understood that Mrs. Pankhurst cannot be forcibly fed owing to the condition of her heart. The police hope, however, to keep her in custody until after the demonstration in London announced for tomorrow.

By Associated Press.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Adds Healthful Qualities to the Food

Prof. Prescott, of the University of Michigan, explains why Royal Baking Powder adds healthful qualities to the food.

Testifying before the Pure Food Committee of Congress, the Professor stated that fruit acids were excellent articles of food and that of these cream of tartar, the acid of grapes, held rank with the highest both in itself and its effect in the process of leavening and baking. He regarded the results from cream of tartar baking powder as favorable to health. Scientists and hygienists are in accord with this opinion.

TRADE BALANCE RECORDS BROKEN

The wonderful strides made by the United States in foreign trade in October of this year is ably told in an interesting circular just being sent out by the Fourth National Bank of New York City, from which we clip the following:

"The year is ending with the financial markets of the United States in a relatively strong position. This is due in a considerable measure to our unusual foreign trade situation. On this point the government figures just issued, showing this country's foreign trade, deserve to be carefully considered. These show that exports during October broke all records, rising nearly $17,000,000 above 1912, and that imports, in spite of the lower tariff duties, were $45,000,000 below October of a year ago. As a result of this the excess of exports in October reached the extraordinary total of $138,000,000. This amount was greater than any excess of exports over imports ever reported in a single month in the country's history, being some $13,000,000 above the previous high level. These very surprising figures broke all records, showing as they do an excess of exports over imports of $42,000,000 above the previous high level of 1908. We have, therefore, a total export balance of $545,000,000, which shows an increase of $185,000,000 compared with the figures for the corresponding period a year ago."

WORLD'S SUPPLY OF DEER HAIR

C. Jung, of Frankfurt-on-the-Main, Germany, European representative of The American Pad & Textile Co., was a visitor in our city last week and his story of the world's greatest Deer Hair market is one of interest, especially to Greenfield, where practically the world's output is used, says the Greenfield Republican.

When the industry of making collar pads in Greenfield was in its infancy, the deer hair market of the world was an unorganized proposition; it could be bought and was used for various purposes, but only in small quantities and no stable means were at hand to provide it in large amounts. Mr. McClain found that it was the one superlative article for the highest class of goods he wished to put on the market.

The life and resilience of deer hair is almost unlimited and like rubber and cork it has no substitute. It was up to him to overcome seeming impossibilities and organize a world's market that could supply him with needed quantities of the material.

The European countries were the greatest producers of deer hair and the matter was taken up with the American Counsels in these countries and finally through a maze of detail, the big problem was accomplished and Mr. Jung has for years been in charge of the enterprise, which has lines out to the furthest corners of Europe and Asia.

In Germany, Australia and Russia immense game preserves furnish a large amount of deer hair, but the steppes of Siberia where the reindeer is the staple article of food and clothing to the inhabitants, comes the bulk of the hair that finally through devious channels comes to the market at Frankfurt, Germany. Here Mr. Jung makes an open market the year around for the material which is as staple as wheat and in units of about two car loads is shipped to Greenfield.

His yearly purchases represent the hair from between 400,000 and 500,000 deer, practically half a million lion, and notwithstanding this great amount, and more brought in other markets, it represents only about 3 per cent of the material used by the A. P. & T. Co. for stuffing material in their output of pads. It is used only in the highest grade that the company manufactures.

Summed up The American Pad & Textile Co. are the largest consumers of deer hair in the world and the price prevailing throughout the markets of the world is established in Greenfield, Ohio.

All workers are to be requested to meet at the Y. M. C. A. at 3:30 Sunday afternoon to be assigned to territory and receive printed blanks and instructions.

GUILTY OF RIDING WOMAN ON A RAIL

Waukegan, Ill., Dec. 6.—Five gray-haired women of the village of Volo, who rode Mrs. John Richardson on a rail, because her name was linked by gossip with that of her brother-in-law, were found guilty here by a jury. Each may be fined $200 and sentenced to six months in jail.

The women are Mrs. Emma Stadfield, Mrs. Levina Raymond, Mrs. Alma Watlan, Mrs. Mary Sabel and Mrs. John Stadfield. Mrs. Kate Wagner was freed because she left before the victim was given her ride.

Mrs. Sabel's 65 years made her the oldest of the convicted five, and the others are well beyond 40.

Mrs. Richardson is not vindictive against her former friends. She was satisfied with a conviction and was agreeable to letting the women off with a fine. She has a civil suit for $100,000 pending against them.

Edward Krepel also was indicted with the six women. It was charged that, dressed in the garb of a woman, he assisted in riding Mrs. Richardson on a rail. He has disappeared.

TO PAINT SOUNDS, NOISES AND SMELLS

By Associated Press.

Paris, Dec. 6.—The "painting of sounds, noises and smells" is the latest ambition of the most advanced school of Paris futurist artists. Sounds, noises and smells, they affirm, "are incorporated in the expressions of lines, volumes and colors, just as lines, volumes and colors are incorporated in the architecture of musical work. From the point of view of form there are sounds, noises and smells which are concave, or convex, triangular, ellipsoidal, oblong, conical, spherical, spiralic, etc. From the point of view of color they are yellow, red, indigo, sky-blue and violet. In stations, factories, garages, hangars and in fact throughout the whole world of sport and mechanics, the sounds are almost always red. In cafes, restaurants or salons they are silverish, yellow and violet. As for the sounds, noises and smells of animals they are yellow and blue; of women, green, sky-blue and violet. In order to be the latest kind of a futurist you must use plenty of "reds, screaming reds," and "greens, never enough greens; yellows, never enough yellows, exploding yellows, saffron, copper and early morning yellows."

Not Meeting With Approval

State Examiner Bliss, in his official report of an investigation of the affairs of the Soldiers' and Sailors' Orphans Home at Xenia, seems to have run very much contrary to public opinion.

Judging from their comments on the report, the majority of the newspapers of the state join issue squarely with the examiner in his criticisms of the management of the Xenia institution.

Bliss seems to have started out, as examiners sometimes do, and as Bliss generally does, with the fixed determination to report something wrong.

He finds nothing wrong in the accounts of the officers—all monies received are legally accounted for. He finds no dishonesty, no immorality. He reports no loose management, no discrimination. Everything about the Home is reported to be in excellent condition—the inmates comfortably, happy, and progressing splendidly in the work of providing themselves with an education or a trade.

Not a word is said against the work or the character of Superintendent Elton or of his assistants.

The only complaint urged, and that is made sensational only by the comparisons which the Examiner makes, is that the institution could be run at a less cost.

That is probably true.

In fact, to carry that theory to its extreme, it would be cheaper to abandon the Home entirely—it would, perhaps, have been a big saving in dollars and cents, if the state had never provided for these orphans of soldiers and sailors.

But the great state of Ohio is not operated on the penny wise plan altogether, and the majority of people in the state have more gratitude in their make-up than Mr. Bliss evidently has.

The Xenia home was not intended to be run as a work house; it was not provided as a place to house incorrigible, depraved and criminally inclined boys and girls, who, though they had homes, were a menace to society.

The idea of the home at Xenia had its root in the love which a grateful people bore to the innocent, pure minded little boys and girls, who, endowed with all the finer instincts and nobler ambitions, were left without fault of their own, at the mercy of the world.

The people of the state of Ohio did not desire merely to give these children a bare sufficiency of the coarsest, cheapest food to hold body and soul together. The people meant that they should have the refining surroundings of home and all the advantages, so far as a great public institution could give it to them. They intended that these little tots should be made happy and have all that goes to develop the finer and better instincts and graduate them as mentally, morally and physically fit—as happy, contented and grateful men and women.

Has the plan produced the desired result—has the investment paid?

The best answer is the hundreds of successful men and women of the state who can go back in memory to the childhood days at the home.

The people of Ohio don't want their Soldiers' Orphans' Home conducted as a reform school—that is not what it is and to compare the cost of operating the Xenia Home with a reform school is monstrous.

It costs more to run a soldiers' home than it does a penitentiary—of course it does. Examiner Bliss didn't tell anything new when he told the public that the Reform Farm and the Girls' Industrial School were run cheaper than the Orphans' Home.

No criminal extravagance is charged at Xenia. The boys and girls, according to Examiner Bliss, are being cared for too well. Things should be made harder for them—they should be denied the little pleasure they are now given—they should be reduced to the level of the young convicts at the Lancaster and Delaware institutions—the state should be niggardly in its dealings with these little orphans.

The people of Ohio—the vast majority of them—don't believe any such thing and they will choose Superintendent Elton's plan every time in preference to the one suggested by Examiner Bliss.

The report of the Examiner shows that there is something wrong all right, but with the Examiner who didn't understand the problem he started to figure out, rather than with the institution, the affairs of which he inquired into:

Always Room For the Trained Executive

By HENRY MORGENTHAU, New York Banker, Ambassador to Turkey

BELIEVE that one of the prerequisites of a man to business success is mainly absolute SELF CONTROL. Constant concentration and a steady purpose to put some new achievement to his credit are highly valuable.

He must always remain in the lead of those working for and under him and at least keep ABREAST OF HIS COMPETITORS.

THERE NEED NOT BE ANY CROWDING OUT OF A SUPERIOR MAN IN BUSINESS, BECAUSE THERE IS NOTHING IN THIS COUNTRY IN WHICH THERE IS A GREATER DISCREPANCY BETWEEN SUPPLY AND DEMAND THAN THERE IS OF MEN OF TRAINED EXECUTIVE ABILITY.

Let any man demonstrate that he has it and the DEMAND FOR HIM WILL COME WITH A RUSH FROM ALL DIRECTIONS.

Poetry For Today

THE RAINBOW COMES DOWN IN OHIO.

Hear the story quaint and olden,
Told by sages, true and wise,
How the rainbow, bright and golden,
Shining clear against the skies,
How to find the end we wandered
O'er the hill and plain to learn
That the rainbow comes down in Ohio.

Chorus.

Oh, the fields are waving
All their banners so gay,
O'er the golden treasurers
Hidden all along the way;
Come and join our army
Finding gold on every hand
For the rainbow comes down in Ohio.

From the blue waves of Lake Erie
To Ohio's winding stream,
East and west across the hillsides,
See the fields of golden dreams,
Ripening in the autumn sunshine,
Oh, their wealth of white and gold
For the rainbow comes down in Ohio.

Many seek for hidden treasures,
In the city's crowded mart,
Toll amid the busy millions
Who are striving for their part,
Why not join us in the sunshine
And some golden treasurers find,
For the rainbow comes down in Ohio.

To our God be all the glory
For our fields of golden corn,
For the rainbow of his promise
And the hills which they adorn,
Let us treasure up these blessings
In a heart of thankful praise,
For the rainbow comes down in Ohio.

—J. R. Whitacre.

WILL LOOK ON

Washington, Dec. 6. — President Wilson has approved the plan of Secretary Bryan to "observe" the coming Dominican elections. This was evidenced in the issuance of orders to the gunboat Dolphin to proceed to Santo Domingo and join the gunboats Nashville and Petrel in those waters. It also became known that it is intended to send to Santo Domingo two special commissioners from the department of state who will head the "party of observers" at the election on Dec. 15. According to the present program at the state department Hugh S. Gibson, until recently secretary of legation at Havana, and J. H. Stabler, attached to the Latin-American division of the state department, will be Mr. Bryan's representatives in watching the Dominican elections.

Hits the Common Drinking Cup. Washington, Dec. 6.—A prohibitor against the use of the common drinking cup on railroad trains and steamship lines is proposed in a bill reported favorably by the house committee on interstate and foreign commerce.

DISCUSS DEMAND OF SUFFRAGISTS

Washington, Dec. 6.—The committee on rules of the house concluded its hearings of the representatives of woman suffrage and the representatives of the opposition to the granting of votes for women.

Following the hearings it became known that the committee is not disposed to grant the full request of the suffragists that a house committee be created to take up the consideration of the suffrage problem and to be known officially as "the house committee on equal suffrage." The answer to the women's plea will be a specific recommendation by the rules committee to the committee on election of president, vice president and members of the congress, for the consideration of the general subject of equalizing the suffrage and the consideration of the suggested suffrage amendment to the constitution.

While the hearing was going on at the Capitol the annual convention of the National American Woman Suffrage association was holding its concluding session. The convention voted the appointment of a committee of 55, one delegate from each component organization of the national association, to wait on the president and urge him to send a message to congress on the subject.

Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, the president, outlined her views on militancy. She asserted that militant methods never should have been adopted and never will be used in this country to secure the ballot for women, "because the constitutional method, the method of civilization, will bring it about."

ROAD BOOSTERS MAKE A REQUEST

Columbus, O., Dec. 6.—A delegation of citizens of Mahoning, Trumbull and Portage counties held a conference here with Governor Cox and State Highway Commissioner James R. Marker. The visitors urged that market road No. 2, which is to run through these counties, be erected next year. Governor Cox assured them that the state would do all it could to comply with its wishes. He complimented the people of the Mahoning valley and the Western Reserve for the interest they were showing in the cause of good roads and declared that it was an inspiration.

CONSIDER THIS YOU YOUNG MEN

YOUNG MEN, ATTENTION!
Young men, it is up to you. Many of you are contemplating entering military schools. Here is an opportunity to obtain even better training than you receive in some military institutions, free of charge. In fact you are paid for it. You are fully equipped with uniform and paraphernalia, you are given a gun that will shoot 4 1/2 miles, a weapon that cannot be excelled. You will be taught to do things accurately and with dispatch. You, who are athletically inclined, may carry out your desires with the company to back you. Think what a trip to the Exposition in 1915 would mean. Of course, this is not a certainty as yet, but it is probable. It will be remembered that similar excursions were conducted to the St. Louis Fair and Vicksburg, so why not San Francisco? Washington has done much for you, now she is calling upon you to do something for her. Help her to keep her militia, show your mettle by coming out to the meeting next Tuesday evening and enlisting. If you can't wait till then see Lieutenant Paul at once. But be sure to enlist.

EPIDEMIC OF RATS

Farmers are complaining of great swarms of mice and rats and there really seems to be an unusual crop of rodents.

The evident scarcity of hawks, owls and common cats have invited the invasion of the disagreeable pests. In many places over the state rat and mice hunts have been held and thousands have been killed.

EDUCATORS HOLD A STORMY SESSION

Columbus, O., Dec. 6.—Various reform measures proposed in the report of the school survey are under discussion today by delegates to the Ohio Educational Congress, in session at Memorial hall. There are more than 2,000 delegates present.

Last night's session was given over to stormy discussion after the report had been presented formally by Dr. Horace L. Brittain, director of the school survey. The most strenuous efforts of the presiding officer, W. J. Beeryman, served to preserve only a semblance of order. Insinuations that only one side was given a chance, that an effort was being made to cram something down the throats of rural districts, were freely made, and many voiced the sentiment that things are good enough as they are. The Boxwell law came in for a series of severe jolts.

A delegate from Miami county who cried, "Let us retain our little red schoolhouse," was uproariously applauded. There was even an intimation of a rump convention if only the side favorable to the survey was given a chance to be heard.

A motion that each delegate shall be given a chance to go on record as to his stand on each of the 23 propositions into which the report divides itself was passed by a fair margin by a viva voce vote.

Governor Cox informed the convention he would veto any measure that increased the authority of the state in educational matters and would veto any that tended to reduce local self-government in school affairs.

CAUSES STAMMERING

London, Dec. 6.—School Inspector Ballard, lecturing before the Child Study society, contended that interference with natural left-handedness is liable to cause stammering. He said that six out of 10 children who were left-handed stammered after being taught to become right-handed. They were cured of stammering by being permitted to use the left hand exclusively for a year and a half. He said also that there are twice as many left-handed boys as girls and the same proportion of stammerers.

STOLEN HORSE CLAIMED BY OWNER IN COLUMBUS

Animal for Which Chas. Williams Traded Another Horse and Gave $15 in Cash, Proves to be Property of Columbus Woman and Is Returned to Her After Reward of $25 Is Paid—Williams Now Looking for Thief and His Own Horse, Last Seen on Columbus Pike.

After considerable telephoning it was learned late Friday evening that the bay horse in the possession of Chas. Williams, for which he had traded a sorrel animal and given $15 in cash, had been stolen from Mrs. Henry Voeller, of 537 East Main St., Columbus, between eight and nine o'clock Thursday morning, and had been driven to this city by a man about 35 years of age who was apparently intoxicated, and who had traded the animal to Williams.

Saturday morning O. C. Snelling, liveryman of Columbus, came to this city to take the animal back to Columbus. He readily identified both the horse and buggy, and made arrangements for the payment of $25 reward to Sheriff Nelson, who had telephoned to Columbus and had then gone to Williams and had the horse removed to the Hess stable to remain until the Columbus man should arrive Saturday morning.

Snelling stated that the horse, which was worth about $200 and the rig, valued at $125, had been taken by an unknown man, who evidently stood in with a gang of traders, and that in all probability the animal traded by Williams would be found in the hands of some trader. After making arrangements for having a check sent to Sheriff Nelson, Mr. Snelling secured the horse and buggy, paid the livery charges, and started on his return to Columbus.

Williams is now making every effort to locate the thief who traded the horse to him, and who was last seen headed east on the Columbus pike, leading the animal, having left the harness at the Cox livery barn, and the buggy standing on North Fayette street, where it had remained from Thursday evening until Friday some time, when it was removed to the Hess stable by Chief McCoy, who then instituted a search for the man who had left the rig, and also for the one from whom it had been stolen.

Chief McCoy was notified by Mrs. Chas. Gerstner on Thursday afternoon that a stranger had unhitched a horse from a buggy in front of her house and had left the buggy standing in the street.

This aroused the suspicions of the Chief who made the rounds of the livery barns, finally winding up at the Cox barn where he found the horse had been taken in with the harness on and that the horse had been traded.

He then began a search for the horse after having gotten a description. Friday afternoon he saw Williams driving the horse on Court street near the postoffice and told him that he thought the horse was stolen and not to let it get out of his possession.

Williams promised the Chief that he would keep the horse and be with in call when needed. Every effort will be made to apprehend the thief, who gave the name of Valentine, and who is believed to be well known among Columbus traders.

OFFERS REWARD "DIGS" HOUSTON

In a large advertisement carried in a Columbus newspaper, Mr. Frank M. Fullerton, of this city, offers $25 reward for the boy in Ohio who grows the most corn upon one acre of ground during the season of 1914, and also takes a "punch" at David F. Houston, Secretary of the United States Department of Agriculture, who is alleged to have snubbed the Ohio Corn Boys in Washington. A picture of the secretary is a feature of the ad.

Mr. Fullerton says in part: "Ohio Corn Boys! If the Secretary of Agriculture snubbed you, by not giving you an audience, it was not a broad-minded act and was discourteous to our Hustling Corn Boys, of whom Ohio is justly proud. But remember, boys, you can beat him raising corn and don't be sore at him. It does not pay to carry a grudge. Forget it."

Mr. Fullerton ends his advertisement with his well-known motto: "He will treat you right," and tersely ends—"Even if the Secretary of Agriculture did not."

LET UNCLE SAM BUILD OUR ROADS

Washington, D. C., Dec. 6.—The idea of National Highways, built and maintained entirely by the government, has no stauncher advocate than Judge J. M. Lowe, of Kansas City, Mo. Judge Lowe, who is Vice-President of the National Highways Association, and President of the National Old Trails Road Association, the National Old Trails Road Department of the National Highways Association, does not believe that good results can be effected by what is known as "federal aid" or "national aid"; least of all, by that form of aid which proposes that the government appropriations should be spent not on main roads but on roads radiating from railroad stations.

In an open letter to Governor Major of Missouri, Judge Lowe says: "If fifty million dollars were appropriated annually it would average about one million to each state if distributed equally."

"If Missouri should get one million dollars and should distribute it equally to every county throughout the state, she would build about four-fifths of a mile of hard surfaced road in each county."

"But there are those in Congress (I don't think they are found elsewhere), who seem to have the vague notion that the thing to do is to 'make the railroad depot the hub and radiate from that point to reach the farmer's produce,' but let's see how that would work."

"In a great many counties there are several lines of railroad. Who will decide which line to prefer? If all lines are to be treated equally what would the result be?"

"Take Missouri, for example. She has an average of, say ten depots in each county. If each county can build only four-fifths of a mile out of each fifty million dollar appropriation then each depot would get two twenty-fifths of a mile annually, if appropriations were kept up."

"At that rate it would take twelve and one-half years to get one mile of road out from each depot."

"The average haul in Missouri is nine miles, so it would take 112 years to build one road out from each depot to meet the requirements of an average haul, and to 'radiate' in only four directions would take 448 years if an appropriation of 50 million dollars were made annually."

"What is the reasonable thing to do?"

"And how are we to get roads? 'If 50 million dollars is appropriated annually for only six years and applied to a system of National Highways it will build thirty thousand miles at an average cost of $10,000 per mile. I believe that this is a reasonable estimate for a first-class road."

"This system could be made to furnish an average of two trunk lines across each state, and across the continent, and all connected with national capital."

In Social Circles

MISS FLORENCE USTICK, SOCIETY EDITOR

A dinner quite out of the ordinary was given at high noon Saturday by Dr. and Mrs. J. P. Henness, at their home on Leesburg avenue. It was a reunion of the members of the three European parties which were conducted by Dr. and Mrs. Henness in 1910, 1912 and 1913, and the pleasure of renewing acquaintance, of recalling the memorable features of the trip, of indulging in reminiscences of experiences both amusing and exciting, were in themselves sufficient to make the dinner exceptionally delightful.

To the pleasure of the reunion Dr. and Mrs. Henness added most cordial hospitality and stimulated memories of the trip by happy suggestions of the countries visited.

Over the long dinner tables, beautifully decorated with chrysanthemums, carnations and greenery, floated the flags of all the countries the Henness parties had visited on the continent and there were Alpine flowers and other trophies brought from the trips.

An elaborate five-course dinner was served by Cateress Schroder, of Sabina, and each course was distinctively European, serving, just as they are served abroad, the most popular European dishes.

Each guest wore either a Paris gown, or some jewelry that had been obtained on the trip.

Between courses messages were read from members of the parties necessarily absent and added to the merriment of the dinner hour.

SUCCESSFUL SUPPER AT GRACE CHURCH

The Ladies' Aid Society of Grace M. E. church held their banner supper Friday night. It was the banner supper in every way; 663 supper tickets sold and the large crowd served to a bountiful, hot turkey supper, bountiful even to the last plate.

The management was excellent, showing systematic arrangement that prevented crowding and unnecessary delay. Mrs. A. W. Duff, president, was ably assisted by the women of the different committees.

The basement dining room offered an inviting picture, each table decorated with chrysanthemums, and the young women of the church serving in white gowns.

The supper menu rivaled any of the ladies' past suppers and the Red Bird coffee was delicious and most generously served.

The coffee was donated by the Midland Grocery Co., of Columbus, Mr. Carl Bishop, their expert demonstrator, giving to it his personal supervision.

The Aid Society held a well patronized sale of aprons, domestic and fancy articles, and the Queen Esther girls netted a nice sum at their booths for fancy articles and home-made candy.

The chrysanthemums, used in decoration, and a few articles left, were auctioned off, amid considerable merriment, by Supt. McClain.

The supper was financially successful beyond expectations.

BIG DROP OCCURS IN PRICE OF EGGS

A fall of some nine cents per dozen in the price of eggs has been recorded in this city during the past two days, and Saturday morning the lowest retail price quoted was 36 cents per dozen, while two days before eggs were retailing at 45 cents.

The nation-wide boycott coupled with the fact that more eggs are arriving in market, is given as the reason for the sudden drop in price.

"I believe a sudden cold snap will again send the price soaring," said a local greener Saturday morning in discussing the egg market. "We hardly know what price to quote in the face of the rapid changes in the market right now," he also said.

STOLEN HORSE CLAIMED BY OWNER IN COLUMBUS

Animal for Which Chas. Williams Traded Another Horse and Gave $15 in Cash, Proves to be Property of Columbus Woman and Is Returned to Her After Reward of $25 Is Paid—Williams Now Looking for Thief and His Own Horse, Last Seen on Columbus Pike.

After considerable telephoning it was learned late Friday evening that the bay horse in the possession of Chas. Williams, for which he had traded a sorrel animal and given $15 in cash, had been stolen from Mrs. Henry Voeller, of 537 East Main St., Columbus, between eight and nine o'clock Thursday morning, and had been driven to this city by a man about 35 years of age who was apparently intoxicated, and who had traded the animal to Williams.

Saturday morning O. C. Snelling, liveryman of Columbus, came to this city to take the animal back to Columbus. He readily identified both the horse and buggy, and made arrangements for the payment of $25 reward to Sheriff Nelson, who had telephoned to Columbus and had then gone to Williams and had the horse removed to the Hess stable to remain until the Columbus man should arrive Saturday morning.

Snelling stated that the horse, which was worth about $200 and the rig, valued at $125, had been taken by an unknown man, who evidently stood in with a gang of traders, and that in all probability the animal traded by Williams would be found in the hands of some trader. After making arrangements for having a check sent to Sheriff Nelson, Mr. Snelling secured the horse and buggy, paid the livery charges, and started on his return to Columbus.

Williams is now making every effort to locate the thief who traded the horse to him, and who was last seen headed east on the Columbus pike, leading the animal, having left the harness at the Cox livery barn, and the buggy standing on North Fayette street, where it had remained from Thursday evening until Friday some time, when it was removed to the Hess stable by Chief McCoy, who then instituted a search for the man who had left the rig, and also for the one from whom it had been stolen. Chief McCoy was notified by Mrs. Chas. Gerstner on Thursday afternoon that a stranger had unhitched a horse from a buggy in front of her house and had left the buggy standing in the street.

This aroused the suspicions of the Chief who made the rounds of the livery barns, finally winding up at the Cox barn where he found the horse had been taken in with the harness on and that the horse had been traded.

He then began a search for the horse after having gotten a description.

Friday afternoon he saw Williams driving the horse on Court street near the postoffice and told him that he thought the horse was stolen and not to let it get out of his possession.

Williams promised the Chief that he would keep the horse and be within call when needed.

Every effort will be made to apprehend the thief, who gave the name of Valentine, and who is believed to be well known among Columbus traders.

OFFERS REWARD "DIGS" HOUSTON

In a large advertisement carried in a Columbus newspaper, Mr. Frank M. Fullerton, of this city, offers $25 reward for the boy in Ohio who grows the most corn upon one acre of ground during the season of 1914, and also takes a "punch" at David F. Houston, Secretary of the United States Department of Agriculture, who is alleged to have snubbed the Ohio Corn Boys in Washington. A picture of the secretary is a feature of the ad.

Mr. Fullerton says in part: "Ohio Corn Boys! If the Secretary of Agriculture snubbed you, by not giving you an audience, it was not a broad-minded act and was discourteous to our Hustling Corn Boys, of whom Ohio is justly proud. But remember, boys, you can beat him raising corn and don't be sore at him. It does not pay to carry a grudge. Forget it."

Mr. Fullerton ends his advertisement with his well-known motto: "He will treat you right," and tersely ends—"Even if the Secretary of Agriculture did not."

WURLITZERS OPEN PIANO STORE HERE

LET UNCLE SAM BUILD OUR ROADS

Washington, D. C., Dec. 6.—The idea of National Highways, built and maintained entirely by the government, has no stauncher advocate than Judge J. M. Lowe, of Kansas City, Mo. Judge Lowe, who is Vice-President of the National Highways Association, and President of the National Old Trails Road Association, the National Old Trails Road Department of the National Highways Association, does not believe that good results can be effected by what is known as "federal aid" or "national aid"; least of all, by that form of aid which proposes that the government appropriations should be spent not on main roads but on roads radiating from railroad stations.

In an open letter to Governor Major of Missouri, Judge Lowe says: "If fifty million dollars were appropriated annually it would average about one million to each state if distributed equally."

"If Missouri should get one million dollars and should distribute it equally to every county throughout the state, she would build about four-fifths of a mile of hard surfaced road in each county."

"But there are those in Congress (I don't think they are found elsewhere), who seem to have the vague notion that the thing to do is to 'make the railroad depot the hub and radiate from that point to reach the farmer's produce,' but let's see how that would work."

"In a great many counties there are several lines of railroad. Who will decide which line to prefer? If all lines are to be treated equally what would the result be?"

"Take Missouri, for example. She has an average of, say ten depots in each county. If each county can build only four-fifths of a mile out of each fifty million dollar appropriation then each depot would get two twenty-fifths of a mile annually, if appropriations were kept up."

"At that rate it would take twelve and one-half years to get one mile of road out from each depot."

"The average haul in Missouri is nine miles, so it would take 112 years to build one road out from each depot to meet the requirements of an average haul, and to 'radiate' in only four directions would take 448 years if an appropriation of 50 million dollars were made annually."

"What is the reasonable thing to do?"

"And how are we to get roads?"

"If 50 million dollars is appropriated annually for only six years and applied to a system of National Highways it will build thirty thousand miles at an average cost of $10,000 per mile. I believe that this is a reasonable estimate for a first-class road."

"This system could be made to furnish an average of two trunk lines across each state and across the continent, and all connected with national capital."

SUCCESSFUL SUPPER AT GRACE CHURCH

The Ladies' Aid Society of Grace M. E. church held their banner supper Friday night. It was the banner supper in every way; 663 supper tickets sold and the large crowd served to a bountiful, hot turkey supper, bountiful even to the last plate.

The management was excellent, showing systematic arrangement that prevented crowding and unnecessary delay. Mrs. A. W. Duff, president, was ably assisted by the women of the different committees.

The basement dining room offered an inviting picture, each table decorated with chrysanthemums, and the young women of the church serving in white gowns.

The supper menu rivaled any of the ladies' past suppers and the Red Bird coffee was delicious and most generously served.

The coffee was donated by the Midland Grocery Co., of Columbus, Mr. Carl Bishop, their expert demonstrator, giving to it his personal supervision.

The Aid Society held a well patronized sale of aprons, domestic and fancy articles, and the Queen Esther girls netted a nice sum at their booths for fancy articles and home-made candy.

The chrysanthemums, used in decoration, and a few articles left, were auctioned off, amid considerable merriment, by Supt. McClain.

The supper was financially successful beyond expectations.

Sweeden is said to be the foremost nation in the knowledge of personal hygiene.

BIG DROP OCCURS IN PRICE OF EGGS

A fall of some nine cents per dozen in the price of eggs has been recorded in this city during the past two days, and Saturday morning the lowest retail price quoted was 36 cents per dozen, while two days before eggs were retailing at 45 cents.

The nation-wide boycott coupled with the fact that more eggs are arriving in market, is given as the reason for the sudden drop in price.

"I believe a sudden cold snap will again send the price soaring," said a local grocer Saturday morning in discussing the egg market. "We hardly know what price to quote in the face of the rapid changes in the market right now," he also said.

GOVERNOR COX TALKS ON TAX PROBLEMS TO THE OHIO COUNTY TAX COMMISSIONERS

GOD ALMIGHTY HAS PLANTED IN YOU A CONSCIENCE. LET THAT CONSCIENCE BE YOUR COMPASS. WE DON'T WANT IN OHIO AN OFFENSIVE INQUISITION. THE FARMERS ARE ON THE DUPLICATE AT A LISTING WHICH NEARLY APPROACHES THE VALUE OF THE LAND. ACTIVE BUSINESS IS FAIRLY LISTED. LET THE FARMER ALONE, EXCEPT WHERE YOU FIND GLARING INEQUALITIES. LET REAL ESTATE ALONE, EXCEPT WHERE YOU FIND GLARING INEQUALITIES. BE FAIR WITH ACTIVE BUSINESS ENTERPRISES. WE ARE AFTER THE LAGGARDS. THEY MUST PAY THEIR SHARE. THE CLUB OF TAXING POWER MUST NEVER BE HELD OVER THE HEAD OF ANY MAN IN OHIO. THE COMMISSIONERS HERE WILL WIN THE GRATITUDE AND CONFIDENCE OF THE COMMUNITIES—IF YOU FREE YOURSELVES FROM ALL POLITICAL ACTIVITY. WE HAVE THE RIGHT TO CUT THE PATRONAGE PIE. I SURRENDER IT TO THE MERIT SYSTEM. THIS WHOLE ORGANIZATION GOES UNDER THE CIVIL SERVICE LAW.

Gov. James M. Cox.

POLITICS ARE TABOO AND PATRONAGE IS SURRENDERED TO MERIT AND EFFICIENCY

Over Two Thousand Jobs Voluntarily Placed Under Civil Service Answers the Charge of Machine Building and Guarantees Clean, Honest, Non-Partisan Assessment—Startling Irregularities of Present System Pointed Out, Which Make Mandatory the Warnes Act—Every Township to Be Assessed and Appraised by That Resident Thereof Who Is Best Fitted for the Task by Actual Test.

Speaking to the 102 county tax assessors recently appointed under the Warnes tax law, who assembled in the house of representatives Thursday in Columbus, Governor Cox said:

"I recognize the importance of the people of the communities of this state, understanding fully the policy that underlies the spirit and administration of this law. It is perfectly easy to comprehend just what was in the mind of the lawmaking body of this state in framing the measure, and what is in the purpose of the executive department, through the governor and the tax commission.

"I want to present to you my observations under three classifications; first, the general policy; second, the matter of efficiency; and third, the economy which should be effected.

"A few weeks ago there was instituted in this state the administration of the liquor license law. I recall in this connection perfectly well the joint hearing participated in in this room by members of the house and senate. I remember hearing the objections stated to having the county license commissioners appointed. I remember hearing well-meaning gentlemen, but who are disposed to blunder somewhat at times, avow their objections to the creation of a so-called machine to bring about what they designated as the concentration of power in the hands of one man. The arrangement, carried into law with reference to the appointment of the commissioners, was induced by the desire of having liquor license commissioners in this state absolutely free and unfettered; men who in the administration of this great law, because I think it has risen to the dignity of a great law, men who would be under no obligations growing out of their election, to influences which might subsequently embarrass them on the ground of so-called gratitude.

Not Afraid of Responsibility.

"I realized perfectly well that the success or ill-success of the liquor license law would descend upon the head of the appointing power. I was perfectly willing to assume the responsibility for the liquor license law and the plan and method of its administration. That law was launched on stormy seas. It was an entirely new thing. It was induced by the insistent desire of the people of this state that this question be settled, that communities might be freed from the so-called wet and dry contests; that these legislative hails in the consideration of other questions might be freed from the overwhelming influences of the wet and dry question. The liquor license law is a success, and every day will demonstrate perfectly the wisdom and logic of that measure.

"Now, the lesson from that is this: That law has been made a success because every man connected with the administration of the law, from the governor down, or the commissioners up, has held firmly and inflexibly to this principle—that the law must be enforced without fear, without favor. This tax law will likewise be a success if you gentlemen bring to the consideration of the questions before you the same order of courage which characterized the administration of the liquor license law.

Warnes Law Buttressed.

"The Warnes law passed is in almost precise form the bill recommended by the commission of William McKinley. The Warnes law is in almost precise form the bill recommended by Governor Harmon, known as the Edwards bill. So that we have our opinion with reference to the wisdom and equity of this law supplemented and buttressed by the judgment of William McKinley and Judson Harmon. Opposition is always encountered by a manifestly righteous law; you men so soon as you undertake the administration of this measure will hear some criticism in your counties. But you will find upon inquiry that the fellow with a sore thumb can make ten times more noise than ten score of people going about their ways satisfied with the administration of this law. God Almighty has planted in you a conscience, and let that conscience be your compass. Administer this law with courage, integrity assumed, having it tempered always with a full measure of common sense.

"We don't want in Ohio an offensive inquisition; but I ask you as men whether there is anything more fundamentally just than this—that every man in this state should pay a sum for the support of his government proportioned to the benefits which he receives under the government. That, in very few words, is the underlying thought which has induced this law.

"The report speaks of the farmers bearing more than their share of taxation. You men, coming from the rural communities, know that the farmers are a little bit touchy about a tax law. They were up in arms when the Smith 1 per cent tax law was passed, and now they regard it with almost sacred favor. They have their misgivings now as to whether or not this measure will work out well. And I can understand just exactly what is in their minds and induces this perfectly honest and sincere misgiving—that the taxing officials in an effort to increase the duplicate and make a record will list the property that can be more easily seen, and might be land belonging to the farmers, the house and lot belonging to the small home owner, the plant and machinery, the appurtenances of the manufacturer, the building and merchandise of the merchant.

Let Real Estate Alone.

"Now, my observation is this, that the utilities have been brought up to a valuation approaching their real value in money—a great service wrought by the state tax commission—that the farmers of this state are on the duplicate now at an estimated listing which pretty nearly approaches the value of the land; the active business is fairly listed, speaking generally, and I suggest to you commissioners that you let the farmer alone, except where you find glaring inequalities; let real estate alone, except where you find glaring inequalities, and be fair with active business enterprises. We are after the laggards in the communities of Ohio.

"They lack the patriotism, the civic spirit and the pride and courage. They are afraid to take a chance with their money. They do not put it into commercial circulation in the community. It isn't part of the investment upon which manufacturing concerns are being operated. They have not given their savings over to the local institutions in the community. They are deprived absolutely of those impulses and temperamental tendencies which enable men to take the risk in business. They are living and enjoying the same blessings and protections of government that are enjoyed by the farmers, the small home owners, the manufacturers and merchants. They must pay their share in supporting the institutions of government.

Suggestions For Work.

"You will find it perfectly easy to increase the valuations in these counties. The tax commission this morning at my request, gave to me a little slip of paper which tells the story. In Cuyahoga county is located one of the largest cities of the world, the sixth city in population, and regardless of the fact that the municipal government is in the competent hands of men whose fitness and integrity have never been questioned, the city is bankrupt. Why? Because her tax duplicate ought to be increased $200,000,000 at least on intangible property.

In Hamilton county (and the same fiscal condition existing in Cleveland must be met in Cincinnati, that city having been compelled to submit bond issues for the approval of the people, that city, too, faces financial embarrassment which will tax the genius of the municipal officers) in 1909 the amount of moneys returned for taxation was $1,054,733; in 1911, under the operation of the 1 per cent law, this increased to $1,517,113. In Cuyahoga county the amount of moneys assessed in 1909 was $1,466,200. This increased in 1911 to $3,771,429. In comparison with these two large counties in the state, it is found that Belmont county, for the year 1909, returned $1,484,939, or almost 50 per cent more than Hamilton county, and somewhat more than Cuyahoga county. In Butler county the return of moneys in 1909 was practically equal to that in Hamilton county, and the duplicate in Hamilton county ought to be 10 times what it is in Butler county. In Fairfield county it was practically equal to Hamilton county. Darke county, a community of farmers, returned $200,000 in excess of Hamilton county. In Licking county the amount was in excess of the amount in Hamilton county. In Muskingum county the amount returned was practically $200,000 in excess of Hamilton county. In Stark county the return was more than double that of Hamilton county, and 50 per cent more than Cuyahoga county. In Wayne, Pickaway and Medina counties the returns were practically equal to those in Hamilton county. In Tuscarawas the return was greater by more than $300,000 than in Hamilton county. When we speak of personal property, we have in mind particularly intangible property and not household goods. I hope Ohio will work to the plan of exempting household effects from taxation entirely.

Why Tax Dodgers Fought.

"Are you men beginning to understand why the Warnes bill was fought last summer by the tax dodgers in Hamilton and Cuyahoga counties, men who live on their yachts and enjoy the blessings of government, but insist upon the farmer and the workingman having his property listed for taxation at what it is worth, and yet, wealthy as they are and enjoying vast fortunes, hiding their property from taxation? I hope my children will speak in pride of my administration having been fought bitterly by these influences. No higher tribute could be paid to it.

"A comparison of the tax returns of credits, notes, etc., will show as great or greater inequalities. In 1909 the return in Cuyahoga was $1,668,968, and in Hamilton $1,429,273. In Fairfield county the return was $1,555,080, only $113,000 less than Cuyahoga county, with all the vast commerce of that great commercial center; $125,000 more than the return in Hamilton county. Cincinnati, the gateway to the south, the clearing house for cotton and coal—Cleveland, through whose gates comes coal from the south and ore from the north for the great steel industry of the country—and yet in notes and credits Fairfield county reports more than Hamilton county, and just a little less than Cuyahoga county. In Belmont county the return was greater than either Cuyahoga or Hamilton county. In Butler, Champaign, Columbiana, Crawford, Greene, Licking, Miami, Muskingum, Portage, Stark, Warren (the largest city in Warren county is less than 5,000), Wayne and Washington counties, the returns were practically equal to or greater than those in Hamilton county.

Murrah For Preble.

"The most striking inequality is seen in the returns from Preble county, which is $2,161,704, as against a return of $1,400,000 in Hamilton, and $1,600,000 in Cuyahoga. Poor, little, modest Preble county. I remember she only cast about 6,000 votes. But if you will measure up her citizenship according to this exhibit, little Preble goes to the head of the list. Take those figures back to the farmers of Ohio. I challenge the Devil's Diary to question the correctness of them.

"Now, gentlemen, I think you will agree with me that the club of the taxing power must never be held over the head of any man in this state, and that this organization must be freed absolutely from politics; that the commissioners here will give dignity and efficiency to the administration of the law and win the largest measure of gratitude and confidence of the communities in which you reside is assured if you free yourselves from all political activity.

Two Thousand Under Civil Service.

"The charge has been made that the governor desires to build a political machine, that you are appointed by virtue of a right given him by legislative enactment; that all of the taxing officers in this state your subordinates, assessors and clerks, will be made a part of a political machine.

"I make to you this morning this announcement, that every man employed under you in this state must submit to the test of merit. Ohio has passed a civil service law. The Democratic administration in this state has the right between now and January 1st to appoint Democrats to every position under these commissions. We have the right to cut the patronage pie. I surrender it absolutely to the merit system. And this whole organization goes under the civil service law of this state. The state tax commission will, in due time, formally advise you gentlemen to make no selections until after January 1st, when men in the different communities can submit themselves to the test of merit, a common sense test.

"I remember once in Washington, when the merit system was first being applied, there was wanted a carpenter in the treasury department. John G. Carlisle told me this story: They asked the commission to submit the eligible list, and it developed that there were no eligibles. An examination was held for carpenters, and, unfortunately for the examiners, there was an Irishman who took the test. One question was, 'How many Hessians did the British send over here during the Revolutionary war?' The Irishman's reply was, 'A d— eight more than they sent back.'

"Now the point is this, the man's efficiency as a carpenter could have been, and should have been, ascertained in another way. You should know whether the assessors are equipped with information with reference to farms, property, etc.; you should know what their general equipment is. The Ohio law, applying the qualification test, is a common sense affair, and said by experts to be the best in the states. It undertakes in a practical method to determine the ability of the applicant to do efficiently what he desires to do in behalf of the public service. Just as soon as you are clothed with responsibility you are going to understand the meaning of the merit system. So we surrender cheerfully, from a conscientious sense of duty, absolutely all of this patronage in order that no man in Ohio can charge that the administration of this great law will bear any relation whatsoever to politics. We are approaching the responsibility of establishing honesty and fairness in taxation, and it must not be embroiled in politics.

Best Services Wanted.

"I assume that every man here recognizes his responsibility—that in his hands is placed the demonstration of an equitable principle of government—that a law has been passed based upon the fundamental justice that every man should pay his share for the support of the government under which he lives. You will have enough work to keep you busy, and if there is a man here who has the slightest doubt in his mind about his giving to this responsibility all of his time, he must, in conscience, be frank with the state tax commission. We want your best service. And we want, gentlemen, all of your time. I ask you to work no longer than I myself am working in the state house.

"With reference to economy: There is no doubt but what you gentlemen can submit a result which I am going to ask of you. All we demand is this, I will put it in few words—the duplicate made up at less cost than last year, and we want it tremendously increased on intangible property without offensive inquisition. That is perfectly simple, isn't it? "Now, in some of the smaller counties it may be difficult to make the administration of this law much cheaper than it was under the old system. I have here some figures which will demonstrate the matter clearly. I have already indicated to you how industrious the taxing officials have been in Hamilton county, and that order of efficiency, my friends, must entail a large expense. The cost down there was $129,695. The cost in Preble county was $4,800. I mention Preble because it now enjoys an economic association with Hamilton county. The cost in Belmont, I believe there is an economic association there too, was but $14,669. The cost in these counties is based, of course, on the employment of assessors and of making the quadrennial appraisal, divided by four, which will demonstrate the matter clearly. I have already indicated to you how industrious the taxing officials have been in Hamilton county, and that order of efficiency, my friends, must entail a large expense. The cost down there was $129,695. The cost in Preble county was $4,800. I mention Preble because it now en-

COMPARISON OF TAX RETURNS OF CREDITS AND NOTES IN 1909

In Cuyahoga county the total was $1,668,968. Hamilton county had just $1,429,273. Little Fairfield put both to shame with $1,555,080; only $113,000 less than Cuyahoga with its vast industries. Belmont outstripped both Cuyahoga and Hamilton. In Butler, Champaign, Columbiana, Crawford, Greene, Licking, Miami, Muskingum, Portage, Stark, Warren, Wayne and Washington counties, the returns practically equaled or were greater than those in Hamilton and Cuyahoga counties. Finally, diminutive Preble county, which has no city and casts but 6,000 votes, returned $2,161,704 as against $1,400,000 in Hamilton and $1,600,000 in Cuyahoga counties. Take those figures back to the farmers of Ohio.

300 BLOWN UP BY DYNAMITE

Mexico City, Dec. 6. — Major Cordero, who commanded the federal troop train which narrowly escaped destruction in the north, near Santa Helena, returned to the capital. He described the dynamiting of the train and the killing of 300 soldiers.

Cordero reports that the rebels by tapping the telegraph wires obtained the information that troop trains were following the regular freight train. The rebels thereupon decided to allow the freight to go by and to blow up the two following trains. Colonel Falcon de la Pena, who was in command of the troop train, was informed of the plan upon arriving at Santa Helena. He thereupon reversed the order and directed that Cordero proceed with his troops on the freight train. One of the troop trains, however, was totally destroyed by the rebels, who opened fire upon the disabled cars. They captured Colonel de la Pena, whom they mutilated frightfully, tearing out his tongue and gouging his eyes. Several women who were traveling with the troops as vivandiers were maltreated by the rebels.

Major Cordero when told of the disaster returned at once with a force of federals and dispersed the rebels, capturing one man, who is believed to have exploded the mine which destroyed the train.

It is reported here that a force of rebels under Martin Espinoza seized the city of Morelia, which is important from a strategic point of view, because it commands the approach to Guadalajara, and enables the rebels to completely isolate Manzanillo.

There is every reason to believe the federals have suffered a heavy defeat in the state of Zacatecas, between Calera and Fresnillo. It is said that the federals have fallen back on Calera, where they are apparently at the mercy of the rebels. The federals are said to have lost more than 500 men and are unable to continue their advance toward Torreon.

The reported fall of the city of Monterey has not yet been confirmed, although there is every indication here that if that city has not yet been taken it will soon be attacked by an overwhelming force.

present conditions in Mexico, which are imposing grievous burdens on foreign interests. There is no evidence that these inquiries have had any effect on the development of the administration's policy in regard to Mexico. There is much unofficial talk, however, of a probable early recognition of the fact that the Constitutionalists are in possession of more than half of the country.

Administration officials here are looking for some important developments as a result of the extraordinarily successful campaign of the Constitutionalists, and every precaution is being taken to make certain the protection of foreign lives and property at the scene of trouble.

EGG BOYCOTT FELT

New York, Dec. 6. — There was a break in the fresh egg market of 4 cents a dozen all around, with prospects of lower prices. Receivers predict 30-cent eggs next week, which should cause retailers to sell at 35 cents to the customer. Officers of the National Housewives' league attribute the reduction to the league's egg boycott. While admitting that the decreased demand had something to do with it, the egg men say that prices are coming down because the supply of newly-laid eggs is coming in more freely. Refrigerator eggs, which keep the market steady at this season of the year, also broke 1 cent all around, with prospects of a further break.

TO REDUCE "EATS"

Washington, Dec. 6.—A bill designed to reduce the cost of living was introduced in the house by Mr. Buchanan of Texas, a Democrat. It proposes to repeal the law that levies a tax of one-fourth cent a pound on uncolored oleomargarine and 10 cents a pound on colored in imitation of butter. Mr. Buchanan contends that oleomargarine is "the poor man's butter" and that the government uplifts the price of the product. The dairy industry of the agricultural states for years have resisted the passage of bills proposing the repeal of the 10 cents tax law.

NEW YORK G. O. P. WANTS PRIMARY

New York, Dec. 6. — The radicals ruled the Republican state conference and forced the approval of a direct statewide primary law. State Chairman William Barnes' motion to reaffirm the more conservative primary plank in the last Republican platform was defeated by a vote of 192 to 187.

The radicals, led by Henry L. Stimson, former secretary of war, split with Mr. Barnes and his followers over the question of retaining party conventions. The state chairman's proposition was that the conference favor the direct nomination of congressmen, members of the state legislature and county and municipal officers, but keep the state convention for the nomination of governor and the other officers on the state ticket. Delegates to this convention were to be chosen directly by the voters, who should have the right also to express direct preference for nominations for state officers if they so desired.

This did not suit Mr. Stimson and his friends and after a long debate they carried a small majority of the conferees with them.

The resolution adopted declared that all candidates should stand on an equal footing. It opposed the use of party emblems on the general election ballot and the factional column on the primary ballot. At the same time it expressed belief in party organization and reiterated the doctrine of Former Governor Hughes that the direct primary should be an adjunct to, and check upon, rather than a substitute for, the deliberation and conference of the party's representatives.

The conference was called by the state committee to recommend legislation to the Republican members of the state assembly, which was returned to Republican control in the last election. Nearly every Republican of importance in the state was present. United States Senator Root presided and Mr. Stimson, Former Attorney General George W. Wickersham, Job E. Hedges, defeated candidate for governor, at the latest state election, and Seth Low, former mayor of New York, took part in the discussions. Mr. Wickersham sided with Chairman Barnes in the primary reform debate.

Until the primaries question was reached the meeting worked rapidly and harmoniously. It recommended the adoption of a vigorous compulsory workmen's compensation law, reform of the rules of the assembly and the amendment of state laws to take all state offices except those of governor and lieutenant governor out of the elective list and empower the governor to fill them by appointment.

Why Taft Gave Up Law.

Cincinnati, O., Dec. 6.—The fact that he would have been compelled to practice law before judges whom he had appointed when he was president, prompted former President William H. Taft to give up Cincinnati as his home and accept the position of professor of law at Yale, according to a statement made by him in a brief address before the Cincinnati charter commission. Mr. Taft advocated the federal plan of city government and the civil service.

Hoblitzel May Land.

1000 MAROONED

Bryan, Tex., Dec. 6.—A death toll of more than 50 persons, with scores of flood refugees in imminent peril, and possibly 1,000 others marooned and suffering from prolonged hunger and cold, was indicated by late reports from the flooded Brazos river bottoms in this section of south central Texas. For over 50 miles the Brazos was three to five miles wide and running with mill-race speed.

The known dead in Texas floods numbered 33 before reports from the inundated territory in this district began coming in. The late reports were brought by men on horseback and indicated at least 20 more persons had been drowned. About one-third of the dead were negroes.

The couriers' reports indicated that the property loss would total $4,000,000 or $5,000,000, when losses along the Brazos are added to the already heavy damage in other portions of the state.

LETTERS TO EDITOR

Editor The Herald:

I beg space in your valuable paper to state that the roller skating practice on our fine cement pavements is getting to be a nuisance; both annoying and dangerous to the public. I don't think our people built our pavements for a skating rink and the practice should be stopped by our police as between the roller skates and tricycles it is dangerous to travel on our pavements, besides the noise is very annoying to women in our homes and should be abated.

Shelbyville, Ind., December 6.—The state in the trial of Dr. William B. Miss Catharine McPherson, Dr. Knabe's office girl, in concluding her testimony declared that Dr. Knabe was right handed. Witnesses previously testified for the state that the wound in Dr. Knabe's throat started on the right side, and the state is attempting to show that Dr. Knabe could not have made the wound herself.
